Thandi's Hair & Beauty Studio

1. Organisation view

Thandi's Hair & Beauty Studio is an independent salon founded in 2021 by Thandi Mokoena, a qualified beautician from Diepsloot Extension 5. It moved from home service into a permanent shop in Diepsloot Crossing in 2023; it now employs four stylists offering cuts, braids, weaves, manicures, and pedicures.

- Mission: Make professional, beautiful styling affordable and accessible to every woman in Diepsloot.
- Vision: The most trusted and inclusive beauty brand on the northern edge of Johannesburg.
- Target audience: Women aged 16 to 55 in Diepsloot and surrounding suburbs, plus walk-ins, WhatsApp-first users, and bridal-party clients.

2. Website Goals and Objectives

The four specific goals are to drive at least 80 confirmed online bookings per month within six months, grow walk-in conversion from 25 to 40 percent through better pre-visit information, build a returning-client database of 500 active customers, and cut missed WhatsApp messages during busy periods. KPIs to track: online bookings per month by stylist and service; click-to-WhatsApp ratio; conversion from Gallery views to bookings; Google Maps clicks per month; and Instagram-to-website referral traffic tagged with UTM parameters.

3. Current Website Analysis

The studio has no website; its only digital presence is an Instagram page plus laminated price lists on a mirror. Strengths: a strong visual brand, a loyal word-of-mouth client base, and a prime trading position in Diepsloot Crossing. Weaknesses: no online booking, prices that change in person only, no after-hours channel, customer data held informally in the owner's phone, and the studio is unfindable on Google Maps. Priority improvements: centralise prices and services, automate bookings, capture after-hours enquiries, and complete the Google Business Profile.

4. Proposed Features and Functionality

Seven core pages: Homepage with a rotating hero gallery and a sticky Book Now button; Services with price, duration, and stylist tags; Bookings via Bookly with a refundable R50 Payfast deposit; About with the founder's story and brand values; Stylists showing portraits and specialities; Gallery of before-and-after styles grouped by service; and Contact with embedded map, WhatsApp, hours, and an after-hours message form.

Design and User Experience

- Typography: Headings in Aptos Display Bold, 26 pt H1 and 20 pt H2, Deep Plum. Body in Aptos Regular 11 pt at 1.5 line spacing; prices in Aptos Italic Rose Gold.
- Layout and design approach: Image-led magazine grid that puts photography first, generous whitespace around prices, and a persistent Book Now button on mobile.
- UX considerations: Sticky WhatsApp button on every page, total page weight under one megabyte, high-contrast mode for low-vision customers, Sesotho phrase-of-the-day in the booking confirmation email.
- Low-fidelity homepage wireframe: (rendered as a 3-column table block in the document header bar, hero with badge, two rows of service tiles, three stylist cards, footer with hours, WhatsApp, map, Instagram).

6. Technical Requirements

Domain www.thandisstudio.co.za via Domains.co.za, R180 per year. Hosting: Afrihost WordPress Hosting with SSL, R99 per month. CMS: WordPress 6 with Elementor Pro so the owner can edit prices and images without a developer. Bookings: Bookly Premium with Payfast deposits. SEO: Yoast SEO tuned for hair salon Diepsloot. English only at launch; Sesotho menu planned once services are translated.

7. Timeline and Milestones

Aligned with the subject's six milestones, with extra emphasis on content collection in week 1:

Week 1 — Discovery, photography, and current-price collection.

Week 2 — Wireframes, theme selection, and visual direction hand-in.

Weeks 3–4 — Customisation and content upload.

Week 5 — End-to-end booking flow testing with three live customers.

Week 6 — Staff training, final hand-in, and launch.

8. Budget

Domain R180 per year; WordPress hosting R1 188 for 12 months; Elementor Pro licence R800; Bookly Premium R900; and a launch-day photographer once-off R2 500. First-year total approximately R5 568, plus optional R400 per month maintenance. The owner contributes her own photographs and copy, which keeps software licences as the largest line item.
